T²

"It is obvious First Texas Products was resolute in making a great machine. Kudos to First Texas Products, Dave Johnson and Team Bounty Hunter. There were 7 teams in all and the competition can be tough. The T² was the obvious winner – the last became first." - GNRS Chairman

GNRS - Largest team metal detecting event in the world- competing for "BEST TEAM & BEST METAL DETECTOR".

January 15 – 16, 2010: The relic shootout was held at the Castle Hall Plantation in South Carolina. Team Bounty Hunter found the most relics and came out on top!! In the overall competition Team Bounty had 6 of the top 10 overall top point scorers. The trophy was awarded to Team Bounty Hunter winning with their "hot machine" – the Teknetics T². Individual points are calculated based on 1865 or earlier relics.
